

THE REAL DEAL

ONLINE

Three historic Tribeca buildings go for $23M

April 12, 2010 01:00PM

Rome-based investment firm the Sorgente Group has purchased three commercial cast iron buildings at 60, 62 and 66 White Street in Tribeca's East Historic District for $23 million. The company does not plan to renovate the fully-occupied buildings at this point but may give them a "green" rehab in the future, the company said. The publicly-traded company, which has a majority stake in the Flatiron Building, is one of the biggest real estate groups in Italy, controlling more than $2 billion worth of property around the world. TRD

TAGS: 60 WHITE STREET 62 WHITE STREET 66 WHITE STREET FLATIRON BUILDING SORGENTE GROUP

Veronica Mainetti, head of the Sorgente Group's U.S. office and 62 White Street (Source: PropertyShark)